

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A dispenser for a liquid crystal display panel includes a substrate on which a plurality of image display parts is formed, a table on which the substrate is loaded, a plurality of syringes for dispensing a material on the substrate, and a plurality of supports aligning and affixing the plurality of syringes, wherein at least a first predetermined number of the plurality of syringes is affixed and aligned to at least one of the plurality of supports.